

YEAR END REPORT 2001

LEGISLATIVE LIAISON UNIT

The San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, Legislative Liaison Unit, reviewed over 3,670 pieces of legislation in 2001. With the large number of bills introduced during the first year of the two-year session, the Legislative Liaison Unit ultimately tracked approximately 630 pieces of legislation which had or could have had impacts on the law enforcement profession. On September 14, 2001 at a little after midnight, the Senate recessed the 2001 Legislative Session. The Assembly demonstrating a more serious work ethic did not close things down until September 15, 2001 at about 3 a.m. in the morning. During these last hours, several pieces of legislation were amended and voted on without any of the legislators knowing exactly what they were voting for.

As part of the back drop, Governor Davis was pushing for energy legislation and when it was not forthcoming, he announced he was going to call a special session in October, bringing the Legislature back in session for the limited purposes of dealing with the bail-out of Southern California Edison. Another major contention was legislation dealing with reapportionment, which is done every ten years in conjunction with the most recent census. These two major issues required an enormous amount of the legislators' time.

Working with a coalition of law enforcement advocates Senate Bill 736 was sent to the Governor, which lifts the sunset on the COP's funding program. This program has been plagued year in and year out with uncertainty and has made it very difficult for agencies to effectively use the COP's funding for new personnel since it was always unclear whether the money would be available the following year. The law enforcement coalition was also very successful in defeating several pieces of legislation, one of which would have restricted the training P.O.S.T is able to offer on the Miranda Warning and also a reduction in the penalty for the possession of marijuana.

The San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department sponsored Assembly Bill 147, by Assembly Member John Longville. This bill grants the authority, along with the responsibility, for the security of the CLETS switch located in each of the 58 counties and several large cities. This was an important piece of legislation as we proceed into the high tech realm as in many instances non-peace officers had complete control over criminal history data, etc. without the appropriate oversights. We were very successful in passing this legislation and having the Governor sign it into law.

As noted above, this has been a very tumultuous legislative session with a tremendous amount of effort focused on solving the energy crisis in California. What this created was a flurry of last minute legislative gambits that in some cases had major impacts on law enforcement. One of those gambits was dealing with emerging technology utilizing facial recognition that at one point was poised to be outlawed banning the use of this technology. In light of the events of September 11, 2001, many legislators are now recognizing that law enforcement needs this and other high technology tools in order to provide for the public's safety now that the traditional role of law enforcement has shifted from just dealing with criminals to having to prepare to address the violence brought forward by international terrorists.

As in the past the Legislative Liaison Unit has placed on the Starlink webpage the complete legislative report of all legislation affecting law enforcement which was signed into law and which will take effect either upon the date of their signing (urgency measures) or January 1, 2002. Individuals with access to the Internet can view the entire San Bernardino County Sheriff's Legislative Report on the worldwide web at <http://www.co.san-bernardino.ca.us>. This file can be downloaded in two different formats.
